

Hello!

My name is Jacqueline, I am a native Tucsonan and University of Arizona alumni. I have a wildly wonderful daughter named Melody and an incredible husband named Jesse who keep life exciting every day! My favorite things to do outside of the classroom is spending time with family, working out, having any kind of time outside, road tripping, star gazing, enjoying live music, and connecting with friends.

My teaching career began in 2014 at Tucson Community School in a preschool classroom. After four years at TCS, I found my way to TUSD teaching first grade and kindergarten at Borton Magnet. My passion is preschool, and I left Borton shortly to join TUSD'S preschool program at Warren Elementary. I am overjoyed to be back at Borton in the PEEPS Program!

One quote that has guided my journey in the classroom immensely is this: "The role of a teacher is to be a researcher" from Lella Gandini. I feel very strongly in the community that is created between families, students, and teachers. This community informs learning and creates lifelong memories. Let's make some memories!
